REIN PROBLEM SOLVER HOSE KITS FOR BMW

Data available through Activant/Epicor, WHI, or ShowMeTheParts.com

The Problem:

On select BMWs, the engine supply coolant pump assembly connects the cylinder head to the water pump and consists of a metal pipe and a rubber elbow. Over time, the rubber elbow can degrade and leak. Replacing a complete OE assembly requires removal of multiple exhaust system components to access the cylinder head connection, which can add hours of labor to the job.

The REIN Solution:

CRP Automotive developed a targeted solution under the Rein brand that addresses the most failure-prone component of the assembly, the rubber elbow.

Rein Problem Solver Hose Kits include a custom-designed replacement elbow and the required clamps, allowing technicians to replace only the failed component instead of the complete OE assembly. By isolating the failure point, the repair can be completed in significantly less time, offering a more cost-effective alternative to a full assembly replacement.

CRP has now expanded the Rein Problem Solver Hose Kit program with two new kits (CRP Part Nos. CHE0985 and CHE0988) for select BMW 3.0L engines.

FEATURES & BENEFITS:

- Designed to address a known OE failure point
- Allows replacement of only the failed hose section, reducing labor compared to full coolant return line replacement
- Includes rubber hose section and required clamps for easy installation
